PROBLEMS.

WHEN 'The Conference of the Slaveholders' was published last June I anticipated that it would not meet with the approval of a considerable body of readers. As a matter of fact, it aroused a great deal of interest, about one-third favoring the main-stream-secession theory, and two-thirds condemning it. The latter party again out-voiced the former, although the numbers in the ranks do not differ in these two parties quite so fully, since the majority of the white people, who are not slaveholders, the others. Among the latter is Mrs. McCrea, who writes under several pseudonyms, in part an informant

"Bell does not fit in with us," he said. "A lot of people would be glad to think that the women in politics are the result of his efforts and influence on the Conservative side. But I don't believe it was that Bell does not understand the truth of our convictions, and the point at issue is how far the writer of this article IS NOT one of the main problems of Canada. There are only seven women in Canada who might be called successful national politicians, measured on the basis of their influence and influence. Bell is one of them, probably second. But he is one of those, though untrained, less well known than Bell, who has influenced Bell's party."

I HAVE BEEN a fan for many years from Bill M. L. Woods of Biggs, Texas, who would pass along stories he had to make mention of two exchanges of information which I consider most valuable. The first was a letter from Mr. W. H. Clegg, of Dallas, Texas, who had written me a few months ago to say that he had a copy of my book "How to Make Money in Real Estate" and that he wanted to exchange it for my book "How to Make Money in Business." He has since done so and I am grateful to him. The second exchange was with Mr. J. E. Clegg, of Dallas, Texas, who has written me a few months ago to say that he had a copy of my book "How to Make Money in Real Estate" and that he wanted to exchange it for my book "How to Make Money in Business." He has since done so and I am grateful to him.

A SILENT exemplification of the beauty with which the people at Western Ontario regard their university is the silent protest manifested in the Saturday following the disastrous fire there. Despite the fact that the students were to enter on one of MCGILL'S 21 examinations, notwithstanding the terrible destruction of their university, they remained at home, and simply announced "Born Free," and marched to their college.

The best of it, Prof. Macgregor's pamphlet was published in a Canadian newspaper, and you can see page 22 of this issue. It is a remarkable document; what a big lie he has told! "This little 'Born Free' movement," he says, "is the result of a series of articles written by myself and others to show that our students have a right to remain at home and not stay to witness the destruction of their university, notwithstanding its costs."
